Why He Named Him Judas Escariot.

"My wife hez jes" presented me wid de fines' boy in dis country," said Black Bill, entering a Little Rock magistrate's office, taking off his hat and slinging perspiration from his forehead.

"Yas, gen'lman," he went on, "de fines' chile I eber seed. An' I've jes got a $20 gold piece right here ter gib de man what can guess what I hez named him. Ter keep yer from spredin' ober de whole universe ob names, I'll state dat hits a Bible name."

"Abraham?" guessed some one.

"Nor sah."

"Paul?"

"Nor sah."

"Job?"

"Guess agin."

"Nickodemus?"

"Keep er comin'."

"Abimelech?"

"Try me agin."

The guessin ceased after a time, and finally Bill remarked:

"I've named dat boy Judas Escariot."

"What," said the magistrate, "Judas betrayed our Savior."

"Can't hep hit. Dat's de boy's name. Judas hez been slighted. Nobody has eber had de immortal curage ter name a chile ter dat man.

But dat ain't de main reason why I names him Judas. 'I've got de Bible ter stain me in gibin' de chile dat name."

"How does the Bible sustain you in desiring to perpetuate that name?" asked the magistrate.

"Hits de fack, Chris' in remarkin' ob Judas said dat hit would hab bin better far dat man ef he hadn't been born."

"Well."

"An' considerin' how many moun' is opened at de doo' when I goes home wid a side ob meat, it would hab bin better far dat boy ob mine ef he had never seed de daylight. I knows what I've talkin' about. I take de scripture frum de references. In de futur ef I finds dat de boy hez made a improvement ob himself, den I'll change his name to Jim."—[Little Rock Gazette.]

A Land Without Laughter.

The Irish have been described by novelists and travelers as a light-hearted and rollicking people—full of fun and quick in repartee—a devil-may-care race of folks, equally ready to dance or to fight. I have not found them so. I found them in the West of Ireland a sad and despondent people, care-worn, broken-hearted and shrouded in gloom.

Never once in the hundreds of cabins that I entered—never once even—did I see a merry eye or hear the sound of a merry voice. Old men and boys, old women and girls—without a solitary exception, were grave or haggard, and every household looked as if the plague of the first born had smitten it that day. Rachel, weeping for her children, would have passed unnoticed among these warm-hearted peasants, or, if she had been noticed, they would only have said, "she is one of us." A home without a child is cheerless enough, but here is a whole region without a child's laugh in it. Cabins full of children, and no boisterous glee! No need to tell these youngsters to be quiet. The famine has tamed their restless spirits, and they crouch round a bit of peat fire without uttering a word. Often they do not look a second time at the stranger who comes to their cabin. (Redpath's Ireland Letter.)

The Story of Tilden's Love.

The story of Tilden's love is the saddest page in all the long history of his eventful life. Let him tell the people how in the first bloom of early manhood he was betrothed to a beautiful lady of one of the old families of New York; how her parents decreed that on account of her youth she should spend two summers in Europe before her marriage; how they pledged eternal fidelity to each other, and registered their vows at parting that no matter how many years might intervene each heart should beat sacredly for the other till a kindlier fate should reunite them; how the loved one sailed away in the famous but ill-fated steamship President, from which no tidings have ever yet been brought back; how annually, on the day that the farewells were spoken, he repairs to the sea-shore, and listening to the sad murmur of the waves renews his vow; and how, through all the temptations that have come with a long life of influence, wealth and power, the pledge of his youth has been faithfully kept, and his heart has remained sacredly true to his first love while the years glide by. (Leavenworth Times.)

One fact that speaks volumes for the wisdom of Samuel J. Tilden, is that he has never married. (South Kentuckian.)

What A Fire Policy Covers.

Fire insurance policies do not include in their indemnity among other things the following: "Fences and other fixtures, and plate-glass doors and windows when the plates are of the dimensions of three feet or more."

It is important that this fact be mentioned in the wording of the policy, if such articles are to be included under the policy. Careless, ignorant or unsophisticated brokers and agents very frequently make mistakes in this respect.

The following articles are also not included in the security of a fire insurance policy, unless mentioned, viz: jewelry, plate, watches, musical instruments, ornaments, metals, curiosities, patterns, printed books, printed music engravings, printing, picture frames, sculpture, casts and models, money or bullion, bills, notes, accounts, deeds, evidences of debt or securities. These should always be specified.

If a building falls, no insurance will attach, or cover its loss, unless it is caused by fire.

Stolen property is not to be paid for by the insurance company.

Losses from explosions are not to be paid, unless fire ensues, and then only actual fire loss is to be settled for.

Property standing on leased ground must be so represented to the company and expressed in the policy.

Goods on storage must be insured as such.

The assured, in case of a fire, must invariably do his best to save it, and carelessness in this respect will vitiate his claim. In no instance shall he abandon his premises to firemen or thieves.

Where a party has a reliable and intelligent representative, agent or broker, whose business it is to study these points, and consult his own and the assured's interest by so doing, it is sometimes safer to risk it by attending to the insurance himself.

Advice to Girls.

In marrying make your own match; do not marry a man to get rid of him, or to oblige him, or to save him. The man who would go to destruction without you will quite likely go with you, and perhaps drag you along. Do not marry in haste, lest you repent at leisure. Do not marry for a home or a living. Do not let aunts, fathers or mothers sell you for money or position into bondage, tears, and life-long misery, which you must endure. Place not yourself habitually in the hands of any suitor, until you have decided the question of marriage; human wills are weak, and people often become bewildered, and do not know their error until it is too late. Get away from their influence, settle your head and make up your mind alone. Remember that in nine cases out of ten you choose for a lifetime—one night almost say for eternity. Do not trust your happiness in the keeping of one who has no heart, no head, no health. Shun the man who ever gets intoxicated. Do not rush thoughtlessly, hastily, into wedded life, contrary to the counsel of friends. Love can wait; that which cannot wait is of a very different character.

STAND AT THE HEAD.—Young man, if you are going to be a farmer be a good one. Be the chief worker yourself. It is the first that will esteem and respect. Study, observe and listen, and gather information pertaining to your business from every source, and you can soon know as much as any one. Let no day pass you without some increase of knowledge. Whatever stock you have let it be good, and take good care of it, and improve it as fast as your means will admit. Whatever fruit you have let it be choice, and study how to improve it, how to market it so as to get the highest price. If you have a garden let it be the first in the neighborhood. Be at the head of the class, not third, or at the foot.

"Well, I declare, said a stranger the other day as he looked at a Roman's boots, 'when they were dealing out feet they were pretty liberal with you, weren't they.' "Yes," replied the Roman, "they seem to have been rather more liberal with me in that particular than they were with you when dealing out brains." The stranger turned red in the face and walked off. He has not been seen since, and it is presumed he has hidden himself away to meditate privately on physiological extremities and the anatomy of cute remarks. (Rome Sentinel.)

A pretty actress settled her advertising bill with a Little Rock newspaper last week by kissing the editor. Arkansas editor's don't get very rich but they have a heap of fun.

The population of Richmond, Va., is 80,000, of which only 40,000 are white.

Finding Col. Fox's Body.

A correspondent of the Courier-Journal, after telling of the origin of the salvia fire, says:

The relation of the above brings to mind an incident told here a day or two ago by Hon. M. J. Durham first, since then by others who were near at the time of the drowning of Col. Wm. McKee Fox, which occurred on the 19th, in the Cumberland river. Every effort had been made to recover the body by scining, dragging, diving, etc., and the searching party had nearly exhausted their efforts and were about to despair of finding it, when some old sailor, happening by, said he had heard old seamen tell of lost bodies being found by taking some garment of the drowned person and casting it into the water, when the garment would float around until it reached a spot over the body and then sink. This experiment was tried as a last resort. One of the party went to the tent, and finding one of Col. Fox's shirts threw it into the river.

It is said by those present, and is generally credited, and is, I am informed, believed to be true by Judge Durham, that the shirt actually floated down the river several hundred yards, and then crossing sank near the opposite bank, near the spot where, after a few minutes' search, the body was found. Mr. Parker Hardin, and others from Harrodsburg, who were fishing at the time in the Cumberland river, report the same singular incident. This is explained by some upon philosophical principle; by the ignorant mountaineers it is regarded superstitiously.

Things You Don't Believe.

When an old acquaintance meets you after a long separation, and putting his hand like a dead fish into yours, says, in a tone as feeling as a calliope's, "I am glad to see you," you don't believe a word he says. When a woman with a bayonet nose and a breach-loading eye calls her husband "darling" you want to hear from the family bed chamber through an auger hole before you believe it—unless you are a fat man yourself.

When a pretty young woman tells you that she shall never, never marry, you don't believe it—if you are a married man. When a man takes an over affectionate interest in another man's wife, and the wife tries to convince you that it is the brotherly interest he takes in the husband you don't believe it—if you happen to be the husband yourself. When a young roisterer is lugged home stone-blind on New Year's day, and swears off in the dead middle of the night for the whole year, you don't believe the half of the whole. When a gentleman is frequently seen issuing from behind a painted screen with a painted nose, you don't believe his story about crypsipelas being the artist.—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

Mrs. Wilkins, of Oxford, N. C., had three children of her own and was stepmother to a boy. The latter annoyed her by stealing eatables from the pantry, and she tried in vain to prevent his depredations. She locked the daintiest of the food in a chest, and he opened it with a skeleton key. Finally she poisoned some cake, put it in a closet, and went away for a day's visit. On her return, instead of finding that the boy was dead, she saw the remains of two of her children who had been killed by the poison.

Flour is like butter, it absorbs smell readily. It should not be kept in a place where there are onions, fish, vegetables, decayed or other odorous substances, nor in a damp room or cellar. Keep in a cool, dry, airy room, where not exposed to a freezing temperature, nor to one above 70 degrees, and always sift before using.

A candidate for the office of Recorder of Jasper county, Ohio, collected votes on the ground that, if elected, he would return half his salary to the public treasury. He was elected, but the Supreme Court has declared the election void, because the inducement that he offered to voters was in the nature of a bribe.

An Irish druggist, recollecting the Latin compliment to the product of the vineyard, "Ja vino veritas," has put this inscription to the credit of the soda fountain, "Ja soda sanatus."

A Washington correspondent writes that both Rhode Island Senators "are single men and childless." In view of the fact that they are single, their being childless is a grand idea.

The plump, nice-looking spring chickens that are allowed to roam about in the vicinity of hotels are merely walking advertisements. They are not intended for table use.

"The nearer the bone the sweeter the meat," said this country girl to her lover. (Harford Sunday Journal.)

By-and-Bye.

There is music enough in these three words for the burden of a song. There is a hope wrapped up in them, and an articulate beat of a human heart.

By-and-bye. We heard it as long ago as we can remember, when we made brief but perilous journeys from chair to table, and from table to chair again. We heard it the other day, when two parted that had been "loving in their lives," the one to California, the other to her lonely home.

Everybody says it, some time or other. The boy whispers it to himself, when he dreams of exchanging the stubbed little shoes for boots like a man. The man murmurs it—when in life's middle watch he sees his plans half finished, and his hopes, yet in bud, waving in a cold, late spring.

The old man says it when he thinks of putting off the mortal for the immortal, to-day for to-morrow. The weary watcher for the morning, whiles away the dark hours with "by-and-bye."

Sometimes it sounds like a song; sometimes there is a sigh or a sob in it. What wouldn't the world give to find it in the almanac—set down somewhere, no matter if in the dead of December—to know it would surely come. But, fairy-like as it is, flitting like a star-beam over the dewy shadows of the years, nobody can spare it—and when we look back upon the many times those words have beguiled us, the memory of that silver by-and-bye, is like the sunrise of Ossian, "pleasant but mournful to the soul."

The Electoral Vote.

The Interior Journal.

STANFORD, KY.

Friday Morning, June 4, 1880.

W. F. WALTON, Editor.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Circuit Judge, M. H. OWSELEY.
For County Clerk, R. C. WARREN.
For Sheriff, JAS. P. BAILEY.
For Assessor, S. H. BAUGHMAN.

We read a great deal of abuse of Mr. Henry Watterson, much of which is caused by jealousy and much by a mistaken idea that it is "independent" to do so. We have differed with the honorable gentleman repeatedly, and have as repeatedly said so, but we can see no earthly reason to abuse a man simply because he happens to differ in opinion. Mr. Watterson has made some mistakes, as all of us are liable to do, but on the whole, he has furnished his readers with sound views, and the Courier-Journal is an acknowledged power wherever it circulates. In his zeal to see the great wrong redressed that was perpetrated on the people by the Republican party, in refusing to seat Mr. Tilden when elected President of the United States, and at the same time to vindicate the old Sage, he grew most too enthusiastic and demanded instructions for him by the Kentucky Democracy, in language that appeared exceedingly dictatorial. To this, in common with a majority of the "rural" newspapers, together with a bulk of the masses, objected, and when Mr. Watterson said that he had blundered, he immediately, like a wise man, acknowledged it, and is now, like all of us, for sending patriotic and sensible delegates to the National Convention, untroubled. We all recollect how well Mr. Watterson played his part in the St. Louis Convention, and how diligently and successfully he labored in securing the election of the ticket that was then nominated. His experience and wise counsel are needed now, and we believe that the Democracy of the State could do itself no greater honor than to send him as a delegate at large to the Cincinnati Convention. To-morrow afternoon mass meetings will be held in all the counties of the State for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State Convention. A recommendation for Mr. Watterson as delegate at large would be a deserved compliment, and we hope that all the counties may consider the matter.

LAST week we incidentally said in these columns that Blant Duncan was a blatherskite. We did not suppose that even that old exorcism on the body politic could object to a name so well earned, but from the following card it seems that he does. Hear him:

"I have a faint recollection you once wrote to me asking a favor before you moved to Stanford, and then you did not call me a 'blatherskite.' Your good opinion is not very valuable to me, though you do edit a paper. Certainly you will never lead any 'respectable movement,' which I will seek to kill' by supporting it. The world is large enough, and your path will never cross mine; so don't tear your shirt, but attempt to lead a virtuous life, and you may be happy."

Now Blant, old boy, you know as well as we do that your first proposition about our asking a favor of you, is manufactured out of whole cloth. We never have, and pray God we never may be so far gone as to apply to you for a favor. We have, however, received a number of documents from you which you wished us to reproduce, the most absurd of which was the claim that you wrote many of Geo. D. Prentice's articles for him. A man that would thus try to rob the readers is not worth noticing, and if our readers will excuse us this time we will do so no more. The Courier-Journal is wasting valuable ammunition on mighty small game, and is belittling itself by bringing the "Blatherskite" so much into the notoriety that he covets.

The Harrodsburg Observer places the name of Hon. P. B. Thompson at the head of its column and requests that its Democratic contemporaries do the same. This it says will obviate the trouble of a primary election when no necessity exists for it. The "constituted authorities" have fixed a primary election to nominate a candidate for Congress, and unless that method is changed, the newspapers have no right to fix any other way. Let us follow the law as laid down or get the Committee to change it, then there can be no trouble in the matter.

GEN. WMS. C. WICKHAM, the courteous Vice President of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad has, through Major N. H. Hotchkiss, tendered the hospitalities of his road to the Press Association of Kentucky, and Col. G. L. Peyton, Proprietor of the White Sulphur Springs, has extended an invitation to the Association to be his guests. These courtesies are highly appreciated, and the members will do all in their power to return the kindness.

ACTING under a call of the State Democratic Executive Committee, the Democrats of Lincoln will assemble at the Court-house at Stanford on Saturday, June 5th, at 2 o'clock, p. m., to select delegates to the State Convention, which meets in Lexington on the 17th of June. District Electors will be elected for the State and County.

WE are indebted to the Louisville Post for special favors.

The Chicago Convention.

As early as Saturday last the "buses" and many of the delegates to the National Republican Convention at Chicago began to arrive, and by Monday the full force had made its appearance. The anti-Grant men achieved the first victory by securing an agreement that George F. Hoar should be temporary Chairman, and that the unit rule should not be enforced. This was arranged Tuesday, and at 1 o'clock Wednesday the Convention was called to order by Don Cameron in the Exposition building, whose amphitheatre is capable of seating 3,000 persons, and Hoar elected, as above. After a call of the States, Senator Conkling, fearing the result of the first ballot, which was claimed would elect Grant, moved an adjournment until 11 o'clock yesterday which was carried. At 4 o'clock last evening we received the following:

(Special Dispatch to the Interior Journal.)
CHICAGO, ILL., June 3.—Grant men show signs of a break, though leaders put on a hopeful air. The Committee on Credentials was in session all night and since 11 o'clock to-day. There will be a big fight over its report. Convention adjourned till 5 p. m. No ballot can be possibly had before to-morrow.

So far the anti-Grant men have shown wonderful ability in handling affairs. They have the Temporary Chairmanship, with the agreement by the Committee on Permanent Organization that Hoar shall continue as Permanent Chairman. They have the Committee on Credentials by a large majority, and by a close count of noses it has been found that Grant will lack at least sixty votes of a majority on the first ballot. Blaine men claim 300 on the first ballot, John Sherman 100, and Edmunds, who is looked on as a dark horse in case of a row, has about 50. At present the skies are not rosy above the head of the would-be Duke of America, and his chances to again get possession of the Government are not promising by any means.

TWO NEGROES were recently indicted in the Bourbon Circuit Court for cutting another negro with intent to kill. Their attorney took the case before Judge Barr, of the United States Court, on a writ of habeas corpus, alleging that as the Grand Jury that indicted them was composed entirely of white men, according to the Constitution of Kentucky which excludes negro jurors in direct contradiction of the Constitution of the United States, the indictment was informal and void. Judge Barr sustained this view of the case and declared that the indictments were quashed. The negroes were liberated after being held a few hours to await the orders of the Bourbon Court, but none being received they were set at liberty. The State Legislature during its recent session refused to strike the word "white" from the jury laws, and it is now said that an extra session may have to be called, as the decision of Judge Barr is in conformity with the decision of the United States Supreme Court. Either the law will have to be changed or negroes can take advantage of the precedent and go scot free of their crimes.

THE worthlessness of the average Assessor and the manner in which he seeks a re-election, by fixing the value of property at the lowest figures, is being seen all over the State. The Supervisors of Owen county, for instance, have increased the taxable valuation of the property of that county over $700,000 above the figures of the Assessor. Our Legislature ought to have made some change in the law governing these officers.

BORN Houses of the Legislature passed a bill striking "White" from the jury laws of the State, but owing to the inexcusable carelessness of the person whose duty it was to attend to such matters, it was never enrolled, and now it is more than probable that an extra session of that worthless body will be called, which will cost the State not less than $7,500 for three days.

THE Kentucky Press Association might improve on the Tennessee Association, which charges $5 per head, yearly membership fee to regular accredited members, by fixing the yearly dues of the hangers on at $25. If such a rule were enforced the "hangers-on," whose name is legion, would pretty soon stop hanging.

THE candidates for District delegates to the Cincinnati Convention are Col. Mat. Walton, Capt. R. D. Logan, Dr. Geo. Perkins, W. B. Smith and H. C. Baker, all good and true Democrats. Lincoln has no candidate, but will most likely recommend Col. Walton and Dr. Perkins.

COL. J. STODDARD JOHNSTON, of Frankfort, a most effective speaker, a man of great personal magnetism, and a Democrat in whom there is no guile, is spoken of as one of the electors for the State at large. A better selection could not be made.

MR. GEORGE C. COHEN, County Attorney of Anderson, is a candidate for District Elector and would make a good one, but Lincoln can do nothing for him this time. Her eloquent and learned Sauley is a candidate.

—The Court of Claims, in session yesterday, voted to levy a tax on the Buckeye precinct of $5,000 to complete the Lancaster and Buckeye turnpike. The most of the tax-payers propose to resist the tax through the Courts.

All the resident pastors of the town were present. Rev. T. B. Cook will preach at Pleasant Hill School-house next Sunday morning and night.

—The Commencement Exercises of Franklin Institute will be held in the Court-house on Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The graduates seven in all are: Misses Allie Dunn, Lala Grant, Fannie Lillard, Kate Mason, Nellie Duncan, Dillie Rose and Nannie Hopper. Of these Miss Fannie Lillard reads the Salutatory Essay and Miss Nannie Hopper the Valedictory.
—PERSONAL.—Miss Mary Clark Engleman is here. Miss Marnie Farrar, of Fayette, is visiting Garrard friends. Mr. Sam A. Walton, your regular correspondent, is visiting Lexington this week. Col. J. K. Faulkner, Hon. Geo. Denny, Jr., and Hon. W. O. Bradley are at the Chicago Convention. Mr. W. M. Bogle and wife returned home Monday, on which night Mr. and Mrs. Wherritt received them at their home with hospitable demonstrations.

—The Democrats of Garrard will meet in Mass Convention at the Court-house on Saturday next to select delegates to the Lexington Convention. Garrard county certainly holds one of the delegates to the Cincinnati Convention in the person of Col. Mat. Walton, who has for years devoted his attention to the best interests of his party, and is better prepared to represent the Democracy of this District than any other man that could be named. We are glad to see so many counties are endorsing Col. Walton, for Garrard justly feels proud of him.
—The time-honored society of Juli-pians met at the residence of Mr. B. M. Burdett on Friday last, and were right royally entertained. The tables were fragrant with flowers and redolent with tempting viands. Gen. Landrum was made Grand Sachem and presided with great dignity. Grand Law Giver Jas. Burnside, decorated with great gusto, "It is the law." Grand Orator Fisher delivered a fine oration. The Sapeucques dispensed the "Holy Water" in a manner that pleased all; various spicy speeches and motions were made; letters were received from Tilden, Grant, Beecher, Watterson and Francis Murphy—all sent regrets that they could not attend. The invited guests present were, Col. Mat. Walton, Sam A. Walton and Dr. F. O. Young. Officers for the ensuing year were chosen and they adjourned to meet at Jas Her-ring's on the 1st day of June, 1881.

—The census enumerators are at work unhooking their interrogatives something after this fashion: "Who are you? Who were you this time last year? Are you glad you are not dead? Are you married, single, divorced, or engaged? If married are you an idiot? &c., &c., &c." The average "Granger" puts but one question: "Are there more people this year?"
—MARRIED.—On Tuesday morning at Trinity Church, by Rev. M. M. Benton, Lyne S. Metcalfe, Jr., of St. Louis, Mo., to Miss Lucie G. Bowman. Attendants—A. B. Metcalfe and Miss Elsie Cropper; Atwood Bowman and Miss Sue Shelby; E. S. Rowland and Miss Marnie Farrar. Ushers—C. R. Anderson, D. T. Fackler, Chas. Weber and Neal Skinner. The couple left on the 2nd night train for St. Louis.

—The last session of the Common Pleas Court in this county, will commence on the third Monday in June, the 21st. Monday, the 11th, will be the last day for filing suits—15 appearances so far.
—Two doctors—one foreign, the other domestic—raised a lively "wow" over a patient at the Clemens House last Saturday. A reshaking of the affair in the Police Court caused some excitement. The foreigner was put under a $30 bond to keep the peace and then silence fell. And now calm serenity wraps us like a shroud and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land.
—Rev. Thomas M. Vaughan, who has been an invalid for some time, is expected to preach to his congregation at the Baptist Church on next Sunday morning. Rev. A. W. Ringland, of Bement, Ill., a graduate of Centre College in '73, was in Danville last week. Eld. J. B. McGinn will preach at Willow Grove on next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. —Middleburg School District votes next Saturday on a proposition to levy a tax of 25 cents on the $100, to be used towards completing the Middleburg Seminary.
—Mrs. C. L. Holmes has returned after a two-week's visit to parents in Madison, Ind., accompanied by her charming sister, Miss Allie Reynolds. Miss Lizzie Fogle, one of our most accomplished young ladies, is off on an extended visit to Shelby City and Lebanon. Dr. Ed. Estes and Mr. Chas. Jones have just returned from a flying visit to Columbia. Dr. J. C. Williams has gone to the lower end of this county looking after his farming interest. Miss Florence Coulter has gone on a visit to Somerset.
—The Methodists held Sunday-School services here on Sunday last at the Methodist church, in celebration of the one hundredth Anniversary of the establishment of Sunday-Schools by Robert Raikes. The schools of the Baptist and Christian churches, by invitation, took part in the services. The occasion was one of great enjoyment. Every body seemed to be delighted. The services were interspersed with addresses, essays and some delightful music. There were a great many in attendance, and more would have been present if the river had not been high to ford.

Liberty.
—DEATH.—Mr. James Barton, aged 35 years, died a few days ago of Brain Fever, after only about three days' illness.
—There is quite a fine prospect for a good corn and wheat crop on our Green River bottoms. Since the rain, in fact, it is good all over the county.
—Ben. Rubards, who has served a term in the Penitentiary and stayed a while in the Lunatic Asylum, is now living the life of a hermit in the Southern part of this county.
—Nearly all of our Sunday-School scholars were very much disappointed last Sunday as they expected to go to Middleburg to the Sunday-School Convention, and were prevented by the high waters.

—Some of our citizens are very anxious to have another Fair this Fall. The stockholders are not coming forward so rapidly as they did last year, but we suppose that it will be well organized in another month.
—Next Saturday, June 5, our Democratic County Convention meets. Let every Democrat in the county come, and we can then choose from all and send delegates to Lexington that will do honor to old Casey.
—Misses Daisy Botts and Rosa Reppert, from Hustonville, Ky., spent the day with Mrs. Judge Stone last Sunday. Miss Sallie Tanner has returned from her long visit to friends at Stanford, and we expect Dr. F. O. Young over from Lancaster next Tuesday.

—Liberty is to have a preacher. Our young druggist, J. F. McBeath, expects to attend Kentucky University the next ten months in order to prepare himself to study for the ministry. Knowing Mr. McBeath as we do we bespeak for him a bright future, and believe that with his superior mind and natural eloquence, he will do much good for the cause of Christ.
ROCKCASTLE.

—Desiring to close out his business at this place, Mr. M. F. Brinkley informs all those indebted to him that they must settle at once. This is not idle talk.
—A sow belonging to Mr. Fitzgerald, who lives on Rockcastle River, in Laurel county, we are informed, recently gave birth to a litter of four pigs and three puppies.

—Died, on the 31st ult., at the residence of her husband, Stephen Anglin on Roundstone, of Dropsy, Mrs. Kate Anglin, aged 65 years. She was a most excellent Christian lady.

—Before this is in print the Chicago Convention will be through its labor, and its youngster may be christened. Whoever that youngster may be, he is destined to be overwhelmed by the Democratic ballots in November. No Chicago baby can ever be President unless he is a Democrat.
—Mr. J. L. Joplin, having tried in vain to drive the rats away from his barn by the use of cats, poisons, &c., last Monday captured a large black snake and turned him loose in the building. At last accounts his snake-ship was as plethoric with the rodents as a millionaire's purse is with greenbacks, and the surviving rats were fleeing in all directions.

—The following are the census enumerators for this county: R. D. Cook, T. J. Fish, S. W. Handle, and W. A. R. Davis. They began their work last Tuesday. Gen. THE EXCAVATION.—For the new Town Hall progresses slowly. The trouble arises probably from the fact that there are about ten bones to one hand at work. The laborers will have a bonanza this Summer here.

Row.—The London (Ky.) Examiner says that Walker Landrum had a row with Garard Thompson at Livingston, and that pistols were drawn. Can this be the young man who recently disappeared from Lancaster?

COLD.—Prof. Verner's prediction that there would be a frost on the night of June 3, came nearly to fulfillment. It was cold enough to make a good fire comfortable, and many an old stove was hugged Tuesday morning.

SAFE.—Mr. J. W. McAlister, President of the National Bank here, has just purchased a large and improved safe, with the noted Yale time-lock on it. This lock is in use in all of the Government depositories, and is indeed a wonderful invention.

IMPROVING.—Col. T. W. Miller continues to add to his residence till now it is the most convenient as well as among the handsomest in town. The last addition is a veranda made by Mr. J. W. Tharp, of Brodhead, in the finest style of workmanship.

SALE OF LOTS.—Col. W. G. Welch has purchased of Dr. J. B. Owsley, the Spraggs property on Main Street for $2,150 and a lot in rear of it for $300. He takes the brick that have been made on the premises, and will begin in a short time the building of a large two-story house. The lot is a very desirable one, and the improvements will be worthy of it.

STRAWBERRY SUPPER.—The Ladies' Christian Aid Society will give a strawberry and ice cream supper in the store-room lately occupied by Mr. Sam Prager, after the Commencement Exercises on the night of Thursday, the 10th. It will be conducted on the European plan, that is "call for what you want and pay for what you get," and the proceeds are for the benefit of the new Christian Church. We hope that everybody will patronize the ladies. They are working in a good cause and eminently deserve it.

COMMENCEMENT TIME.—Is on our again and will be inaugurated next Sunday by a sermon, to be preached in the Court-house by Dr. W. A. Oldham, of Lexington, a distinguished divine of the Reform Church. The annual Commencement, which promises to be a grand affair, will occur on Wednesday night, and on Thursday night the regular Commencement Exercises. The sweet girl graduates number six, and are: Miss Betty Pennington, Salutatorian; Miss Ruth Crow, Valedictorian; and Misses Georgia Proctor, Annie Roberts, Mattie Hayes Owsley and Bettie Parsons.

MARKED DOWN.—It is a fact well known to all those who have ever purchased goods of the Hayden Brothers, that they will never allow any other respectable house to undersell them. In view of the fact that their sales have been very large this season, and on account of a desire to sell off their goods as rapidly as possible they have marked them down to the lowest possible limit, and now offer them cheaper than ever. To their dress goods, particularly, you can get such bargains as you have not heretofore. The gentlemen are also informed that they need clothing, the Haydens can supply them at very much reduced prices. In a word, they are determined to sell their goods, and all you have to do is to give them a chance to offer you extraordinary bargains in everything.

LINCOLN'S TAXABLE PROPERTY.—We are indebted to Mrs. E. A. Blinn, Deputy County Clerk, for the following statistics taken from the Assessor's books just received:

Land, 106,292 acres, valued at $2,579,232

Town lots, 320, valued at 239,550

Value of pleasure carriages, etc. " 18,723

Value of gold and silver watches, etc. " 37,593

Total valuation of property by Assessor $9,513,456

Superior's income, 14,808

There are in the County of Lincoln, as returned by the Assessor, 3,290 persons who should pay poll tax; 3,304 legal voters; 3,461 children between the ages of 6 and 20; 5,734 hogs over 6 months old; 5 persons that are blind and 6 that are deaf; only 19 taxable dogs are returned, but 215 sheep were killed during the year 1879, valued at $695. 41,300 pounds of tobacco, 175 pounds of hemp, 1,486 tons of hay, 470,240 bushels of corn, and 79,399 bushels of wheat are the reported crops of Lincoln.

LECTURE.—To-night at the Presbyterian Church, Rev. John C. Young will deliver his lecture on "The Lost Arts," said to be the best of his list. The proceeds are for a most worthy charitable object, and it is hoped that a full audience will greet him. Admission 25 cents.

FOR TWENTY-ONE YEARS.—Grove Kennedy was taken to the Penitentiary Friday last, by Deputy Sheriff Albright, of Rockcastle, and one guard. His proud spirit must be broken when two men can handle him. He once got away from twenty-five men and a Sheriff, all armed to the teeth.

F. I. CONCERT.—Mrs. N. B. Grady, the accomplished music teacher of Franklin Institute, Lancaster, favored us with a neatly printed programme of her Concert on Wednesday night, together with an invitation to attend, but we were forced to forego the pleasure. We are assured, however, by those who attended that it was a most successful entertainment, and we know by experience, the wonderful ability of Mrs. Grady in that direction.

CHEAP CORNER COUNTER.—The Messrs. Hayden Brothers request us to announce that they have set apart one corner counter in their large store room which they call their "Cheap Corner Counter." We inspected it the other day and found on it an almost endless variety of Summer goods, embracing everything that you can think of. The idea is a novel one, and we predict for their cheap corner counter a popularity co-extensive with the buying public. Just go there and see for yourselves what you can get for a very little money.

MINNOW TRAP.—Col. Tom Watterson, the great Kentucky fisherman, is agent now for Dr. J. M. Laster's minnow trap, which secures them very fast, and in the described. It is a very simple contrivance, being merely a glass jar about the size and shape of a six-quart bucket, with a funnel-shaped top so arranged as to be easily put on or taken off, the fish entering through the tube of the funnel into the vessel. At the bottom is an opening for the minnows to run out into a bucket. The opening is closed while in the water by a tin door; crumbs of biscuit or corn bread constitute the bait.

DISTRICT ELECTION.—The name of Judge M. C. Sankey has been warmly suggested by many of his friends as an eminently proper one to receive the appointment of Democratic Presidential Elector from this Congressional District, and we learn from reliable authority that Judge S. will accept the position if tendered him. He should receive it therefore without opposition. No better appointment could be made. He would make a most brilliant, energetic and effective canvass for our men and our principles, and would swell the Democratic majority by several hundred. Let our County Convention to-morrow set the ball in motion.

RECEPTION.—On their return from Hustonville, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Mogle were tendered an elegant reception by the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wherritt, of Lancaster. Quite a number of guests were present, and an evening of quiet enjoyment was spent. Of the supper, which was waiting in no particular, we might write columns and not be able to describe it better than by simply saying it was one of Mrs. Wherritt's best, and all who know that lady's superior culinary taste, will say at once that it was superb. Meats, fruits, cake, ice, in fact almost everything filled the handsome flower-bedecked tables, and presented a sight tempting beyond comparison. The wedding pair will remain at Mr. Wherritt's till the completion of their next little cottage on Stanford street, when the will go in the more prosy life of house-keeping.

TO THE COUNTY COURT.—We wish to make a last appeal to our Magistrates who assemble here next Monday, to purchase and tear down the Bruce Hotel property. We have repeatedly urged it, and have, in our opinion, given some uncontroverted reasons why it should be done, and done at once. The combustible material of which it is made is a standing menace to the safety of our costly public buildings, which contain deeds and other valuable papers that almost no amount of money could restore. With but a few and far-between exceptions, the people are for the purchase, and we do hope that the Court will order it. The difference in the cost of insuring the Court-house and jail would in a few years pay for the property. Adjoining property would become more valuable and the addition to the appearance of the town would be such as every citizen would be proud.

AN ELECTION.—Will be held in the various school districts to-morrow for a Trustee to fill the place of the one whose term has expired. "Squire W. R. Carson goes out in this district. Widows with children within the school ages can vote in this election. The patrons of the school and all others interested in the cause of education should see to it that a suitable person is elected—one who has the interest of the children at heart, and who will use his best endeavors in conjunction with the other two Trustees to have a good school taught. One of the most important requisites to a good school is a suitable house. To the school in this district—the richest in the county—is it said, that we have no place in which to teach a public school. Several years ago they did own a box-house near the depot, but that, being on ground necessary to the railroad, was condemned for railroad purposes, and the house thereon sold, and the proceeds used by the Trustees of the public school in paying the rent of a room in which to have a school taught one session. Since the sale of this box-house the Trustees and teachers have been forced to the necessity of getting a room just wherever they could. At present, owing to the commendable spirit of improvement which has sprung up in our town, the old Spraggs house, which was for several sessions rented for the use of the public school, has been torn down and there is not now a single room in town to be had which is at all suitable for public school purposes. We take pride in mentioning the fact that Stanford is rapidly improving, especially in the erection of handsome stores, residences, churches and town hall, but there is never a word said about a public school-house. There are many children in this district who have never received any tuition except at the public schools, and at present, it seems as if even the little annual allowance will be denied them hereafter, on account of the want of a suitable place in which to teach them. The Trustees, if they will examine the school law, will find that it is their duty to provide a suitable house—that it is their duty to submit the question of taxation for the purpose to the district. A tax of ten or fifteen cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property would raise a sum sufficient for the purpose of purchasing a site and erecting a good house. Let the proper notices be given, and let the vote be taken as soon as practicable after the election to-morrow. We have waited long enough, and since the spirit of improvement is up, let us do something which will benefit the poor children of our community.

MARRIAGES.

STAGG—OVERSTREET.—In Hustonburg yesterday, Mr. Jas. P. Stagg to Miss Jennie Overstreet.

MADDER—SULLIVAN.—Mr. Edward F. Maddar, the talented young editor of the Louisville Post was married last Friday to Miss Kate Sullivan, a charming Louisville belle. The happy couple are honeymooning in Denver, Colorado.

BUCHANAN—LEWIS.—At the residence of Col. T. P. Hill, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Wm. R. Buchanan and Miss Bettie A. Lewis were united in matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. Caldwell, and the attendants were Misses Mildred Lewis, Lillie Buchanan and Prof. Oldfield P. Moore, the other attendant, Mr. T. W. Higgins, being detained at home by sickness. The bride was handsomely arrayed in a wine-colored silk trimmed with broad satin, and looked exceedingly lovely. After congratulations and good wishes had been showered upon the young couple, the guests some fifty-odd in number, were invited to a breakfast, which, for excellence, variety, abundance and the beauty of the floral decorations of the table, we have rarely seen surpassed. The happy couple start life under the most favorable circumstances. Mr. Buchanan is a prosperous young business man of strict integrity, and excellent morals, while his wife, who is a niece of Mrs. T. P. Hill, with whom she has lived for six years, is a young lady of extreme amiability of disposition, with the many accomplishments which a liberal education bestows, and will be to him a true and loving helpmeet. After a visit to the Tennessee relatives of the groom they will return to Crab Orchard, where they will in future reside, and may love and happiness light their pathway to the end.

RELIGIOUS.

The meeting in Harrodsburg, conducted by Elds. Shouse and Clay, closed with eighteen additions to the Church.

The General Assembly of the Northern Presbyterian Church adjourned last Monday and will meet in Buffalo, New York, on the 12th Tuesday in May, 1881.

There was a lively time at the Christian Church, Richmond, Ky., Sunday night at the close of services, caused by some scamp locking the door after the congregation was all in and hiding the key.

Elder Moore, of Lexington, who is lying down, is one of the most learned of the Reform ministers, and the church could illly spare him.

The Moderator of the Reformed Presbyterian Synod, in session at Pittsburgh, owing to the disorder and boisterous proceedings of the members, sent for the Chief of Police Saturday, and asked him to take charge of the Synod until final adjournment.

Money is being raised to replace the fearful looking old cupola on the Presbyterian Church with a new one. It can not be done too soon as every rain leaves it mark on the handsome salmon-colored wall. Only about $200 is needed, and this ought to be raised without any trouble.

Mrs. George O. Barnes, wife of the Evangelist, permits us to copy the following extract from his letter from Ashland, May 30th: "Yesterday (Saturday) services were 'specialties'—the afternoon one for the children and at night for the young men. Both were wonderfully well attended considering the rainy weather. Twenty-four children confessed, and 16 young men—40 for the day's harvest. Good for Saturday. PRAISE THE LORD. It was a soul-filling sight to see 16 young stalwarts, most of them from the Rolling Mill, sitting side by side at Jesus' feet. I had no sermon specially for young men, but let children's lecture on Daniel I answered admirably, as the LORD gave wisdom to adopt it to a changed audience. The last one of President Russell's, of the 'Norton Iron Works' some came last night. The old father I have mentioned before as a converted infidel. And this morning another wonder. Another infidel, and prominent iron turner man, has just called to consult with the Judge about having services in the Rolling Mill at 3 P. M. He says, if we will, he will sprinkle the floor and six 1,500 empty nail kegs in position for the audience. Of course I accepted the proposition, gladly. The drenching rain of last night has put the Park service entirely out of the question, but the LORD has thus opened another door just where we wanted to do some work for the Master. How lovingly the LORD arranges everything in the most unexpected ways. Our hearts have turned towards those iron mills ever since we have been here, but we hardly knew how to get full access to them. Praise the LORD for opening wide the door. I shouldn't wonder if He kept us here another week, and give us a glorious harvest. Eight hundred and fifty souls in Boyd County already Praise His dear name. Who is drawing better wages than that? My soul is filled with mingled gratitude and humility when I think of the dear Master thus using us as 'skilled workmen' in his great harvest field. Oh, it is more wonderful, every time I think of it. PRAISE THE LORD. His service is perfect freedom: His work refreshes—never wearies." Six P. M.—The Foundry service and the Park also, fell through in consequence of the constant rain. Yours of the 28th came this morning with its usual welcome news from the P. C. The services morning and evening fully attended, and the LORD gave liberty of utterance, freedom in prayer and fixed attention, but only 7 confessions at the first and 5 at the second. PRAISE THE LORD. We trust for enough to make up the 500 to-night. The dear Master will do it I feel confident. It is not certain whether we close to-night or go on. The young men have sent in a petition that a service be given to them especially, as I did to the young men, and I will be very glad to do it if the LORD will. He will direct. The mill hands will, many of them, be "off work" next week, too, as the nail factory suspends awhile in consequence of having such a heavy stock of nails on hand."

LATER.—Another letter was received from Mr. Barnes, last night, saying that he had closed his Ashland meeting and gone to Greensport. The number of confessions at Ashland was 537, making 1926 in all as the result of his labors in Boyd county.
